Smart Social Gathering.

The smartest social gathering of the week assembled last evening at the "baby party," given by Mr. and Mrs. John Alken Branch in honor of their son, Mr. John Alken Branch, of Yale University, who is spending the holiday in Richmond.

The Branch home, No. 1 West Franklin Street, was artistically decorated, presenting a most novel and beautiful appearance.

In the center hall, grouped with palms, had been placed two patient-looking, long-eared, tailless donkeys, waiting for the little society boys and girls to be blindfolded, and restore their missing caudal appendages. A rocking-horse, with flowing mane and tail, stood conveniently and invitingly near for some adventurous child rider to put him through his paces. A lemonade well supplied the thirsty inclinations of the people with cool and delicious draughts during the entire evening.

In the center of the library was a mammoth wigwag, suggestive of Indian games and diversions. Floral decorations here were in crimson carnations and white stocks. All around the room were arranged great baskets filled with red ribbon and holding Easter eggs, rabbits, chickens and other souvenirs belonging to the season, to be given to good little boys and girls before their departure from the "baby party."

The drawing-room was lovely in its adornment. Easter eggs and jonquils. Two immense Jack-in-the-boxes at either end of the apartment contained a goodly array of cunningly hidden sugar plums that were to be drawn forth by the ribbons attached to them.

Cleared of its furniture and with an orchestra discoursing sweet music from behind palm screens drawn across the chimney corners, the dining-room was converted into an ideal ballroom, where quaint little Dutch dolls, Mary Janes, Buster Browns, Tom Thumbs, Emmy Lou's, Little Lord Fauntleroy, Peter Pans, Little Miss Muffets, Oliver Twists, Little Enslows, Bo-Peeps and Roy Blue danced gaily and made an enchanting picture of youth and joy.

A tempting supper was served in the breakfast-room, where feathery white sprays of bridal wreath and yellow tulips were used for the centerpiece and other table decorations. At one end of the table, an old-fashioned nougat basket was heaped high with eggs encasing dainty confections; at the other a candy boat held Easter novelties in the way of bonbons. Everything carried out the white and gold color scheme, and the table was decorated with the shape of chickens, eggs, rabbits and Easter floral designs.

The young society people, attired as trained nurses, and in the Virginia Hospital uniform, and the other in that of St. Luke's, took charge of the children at the "baby party," and saw that they did not get into any mischief. The fact that the nurses had on hand a plentiful supply of miniature bandages, mouth-harps and horrids assisted them greatly in keeping good order among their charges.

Mr. John Alken Branch proved a very generous and agreeable little host to his baby friends, letting them play with all his toys and evincing most unselfish and delightful disposition in a boy of his tender years. The evening to him and his juvenile friends was one of un-mixed enjoyment.

Manley-Knight.

A very pretty marriage took place yesterday afternoon at 6 o'clock in the home of Mrs. Charles E. Wingo, No. 922 Ark Avenue, when her niece, Miss Louise Talbot Knight, became the bride of Mr. McCaslin Y. Manley, formerly of Newman, Ga., now of Richmond. Rev. Dr. George W. McDaniels, of the First Baptist Church, was the officiating clergyman.

Beautiful floral decorations in the parlors were in lilacs, white roses and white sweet peas, diversified with the greenery of palms and ferns. In the dining-room pink roses and sweet peas were used.

The bride was attended by her

Coca-Cola
SUBJECTED TO A RIGID ANALYSISCHEMICAL DEPARTMENT
South Carolina College

COLUMBIA, S. C., January 17, 1906.

Columbia Coca-Cola Bottling Co., Columbia, S. C.

GENTLEMEN--This is to certify that I have bought, in the open market, an original package of five gallons of Coca-Cola Syrup, bearing the label of "The Coca-Cola Co., Atlanta, Ga.," and have subjected the same to careful analysis.

The object of this investigation being to establish the presence or absence of cocaine, and possibly of other injurious alkaloids, I operated on quantities of three to five times the amount contained in a bottle of the carbonated beverage. The extractions of the syrup were repeated until the alkaloids were entirely removed, and the crystalline substance thus obtained was further separated by fractional extractions, after which it was concentrated and tested. Since this concentrated product failed to respond to the tests for cocaine, it is clear that the alkaloid is absent, or, if present at all, then in quantities too minute to allow of detection. The active constituent of Coca-Cola Syrup proved to be caffeine, and in quantities seemingly less than in a cup of good coffee or tea.

There was no evidence of the presence of other alkaloids.

Yours truly, (Signed) W. B. BURNBY, Chemist.

Song

By WILLIAM WATSON.

Other selections from this author, his portrait, autograph and biographical sketch, have already been printed in this series.

April, April,
Laugh thy girlish laughter;
Then, the moment after,
Weep thy girlish tears!
April, that mine ears
Like a lover greets,
I tell thee, sweetest,
All my hopes and fears,
April, April,
Laugh thy golden laughter,
But, the moment after,
Weep thy golden tears!

This series began in The Times-Dispatch Sunday, Oct. 11, 1903. One is published each day.

cousin, Miss Janie Wingo, as maid of honor, and the groom by Mr. J. J. Goodrum, of Atlanta, Ga., as best man. The bride was beautifully gowned in white messaline, worn with a long tulle veil. Her flowers were white sweet peas and lilacs-of-the-valley. Miss Wingo wore a white lace robe over a blue and white tulle dress, and carried a basket filled with pink sweet peas.

Two little flower maidens—Misses Elizabeth Gwatkins and Virginia Cox—were dainty frocks of white and pink and carried sweet peas.

A reception followed the ceremony. After an extended tour, Mr. and Mrs. Manley will make their home in this city.

Mrs. Manley is the daughter of Mr. Wray T. Knight, and is a young woman of much personal grace and charm. Mr. Manley is well known in social and business circles here.

Among those who came from a distance to attend the marriage were:

Mrs. P. Y. Moore, the groom's mother; Mr. and Mrs. John Miller—all of Newman, Ga.; and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Dennington, of Farmville, Va.

For Mrs. Boxley.

Mrs. Frank D. Beveridge, of No. 525 West Grace Street, will give a reception in honor of Mrs. Frank Mansfield Boxley to-morrow afternoon from 5 to 7 o'clock.

Mrs. Boxley is one of the most charming brides of the past winter, and society will be pleased to welcome her on Thursday afternoon.

Final Rehearsals.

The final dress rehearsals for "Red Riding Hood," the bright little opera to be presented in Belvidere Hall this afternoon at 4 o'clock under the auspices of the Kate Emile Guigon Club, will be given by the members of the club, who have been rehearsing for several days.

Mrs. Boxley is one of the most charming brides of the past winter, and society will be pleased to welcome her on Thursday afternoon.

Letters from the Klondike.

The monthly meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary, Virginia Passenger and Power Company Young Men's Christian Association, will be held to-morrow at 8:30 P. M., at the Y. M. C. A., at the Reservoir. At 4 o'clock, Mrs. F. J. Craigie will give a reading from letters received during the last seven years from a very charming woman in Dawson City, the Klondike.

It may surprise many to know that these letters were written in a home equipped with electric lights, telephone and up-to-date artistic furnishing.

The charming social life in this far-away city, the modern stores as complete as those in Richmond, the richness of the vegetation and the weird long days and the dreary long nights, make a story well worth listening to.

The Woman's Auxiliary cordially invites any one interested in this tale of the magic city to attend this reading on Thursday.

There will be a brief business session at 8:30 o'clock.

Chapter to Meet.

Old Dominion Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will meet to-morrow at the home of the regent, Miss Lucy Clad, Alderman, No. 911 East Grace Street. The work of the chapter in collecting relics for Jamestown Exposition will be discussed and certain matters in connection with Mt. Vernon will also be considered.

Supper at Westmoreland.

Dr. Beverly Randolph Tucker, whose marriage to Miss Elsie Boyd takes place this evening, was entertained at a delightful dinner at the Westmoreland Club Monday evening.

Those present, besides Dr. Tucker, were Messrs. Sparrow Weddell, Albert Tanner, Lewis Grant, A. Lee Thaw, S. H. Ellerson, A. S. Grant, Steve A. Bill.

Supper and Sale.

The Ladies' Guild of Ascension Chapel, Highland Park, will give a pretty Easter sale and supper in the home of Mrs. Linn B. Enlow, Third Avenue and Burns Street, this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Fancy articles will be on sale and an elegant supper will be served. The following musicians will contribute attractive numbers to the musical program: Mr. A. W. Marietta, soloist; Mr. C. A. Canova, soloist; Miss Agnes

TO BEGIN REVIVAL.

Evangelistic Meetings to Be Held at Grace-Street Baptist.

Preparations are being made this week for the beginning of a series of meetings at the Grace Street Baptist Church next Sunday.

In response to the pastor's appeal last Sunday nearly every person in the great congregation stood up to express his willingness and determination to enter with heart and soul into the work. This evening at the prayer-meeting the pastor, Dr. Gardner, will address the members of the church on the subject, "How I Can Help."

The evangelistic services will begin next Sunday morning and will continue every evening. A large chorus choir is being organized.

CASE GOES OVER.

Alleged Murderer Held Until After Inquest To-Day.

The case of Joseph Burton, charged with the murder of Leonard White, was continued in the Police Court yesterday morning to await the coronor's inquest, which will be held this morning. Burton is charged with slaying White in a fight on Monroe Street Monday night, as told in this paper yesterday. The man had been dead before the doctor could reach him.

PRETTY WEDDING
OF MISS SCOTT

One of the Belles and Social Favorites of Amherst Bride of Mr. Joubert.

RECEPTION AT BRIDE'S HOME

Guests Go from Church to Handsome Home of Mr. Scott.

Supper Served.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

AMHERST, VA., April 2.—To-night at 9 o'clock Miss Louise Montague Scott, daughter of Mr. Charles Landon Scott, of this place, was married in Ascension Church to Mr. Charles Alfred Joubert, now of Birmingham, Ala., but formerly of New Orleans.

The marriage was performed by Rev. A. P. Gray, rector of the church and pastor of the bride. To-night the couple left for an extensive tour, after which they will make their home in Birmingham. The bride will be much missed in this section of Virginia, where she has been a social favorite. She was also regarded as one of the most beautiful girls in this part of the State.

The bridal party as they entered the church were preceded by Misses Lester and Clair Scott, the little sisters of the bride, who acted as flower girls, carrying baskets of flowers. They were dressed in white with pink sashes. The ushers were Mr. Vernon Miller, of Lynchburg, and Mr. Walter Brown, of the University of Virginia. The groomsmen were Joseph W. W. Scott, of Richmond; Samuel D. Scott, of Amherst; C. L. Scott, Jr., of Amherst; Hon. Aylett B. Coleman, of Roanoke; Samuel Scott, of Richmond. These were in full dress. The bridesmaids were Misses Mary Walker Scott, of Howardsville; Clara Cabell, of Washington; Alice Everett, of Keewick; Eva Willis, of Amherst; Florence Tait, of Norfolk; and Kate Randolph, of Amherst. They wore white point d'esprit over yellow tulle, with yellow girdles and with sprays of yellow rosinas in their hair. The maid of honor, who preceded the bride, was Miss Mary E. Scott, her sister, of Amherst. She wore a white point d'esprit over mesquite satin, with a pink girdle, and carried a wreath of pink rosinas.

Bride's Dress.

The bride entered with her father. She was dressed in green tulle silk, hand-embroidered, with veil, and carried orange blossoms. They were met at the altar by the groom with his best man, his brother, Mr. Frederick Joubert, of New Orleans.

While the party were entering the church the "Coronation March" was played by Professor Paul Delaney, of Sweet Briar, at the organ. Professor Humphreys, of Sweet Briar, on the violin, and Mrs. Humphreys on the cello. During the ceremony they played the "Angel Serenade," and as they left the church they played Mendelssohn. The church was tastefully decorated for the occasion in green and white and yellow with jonquils.

After the marriage, between the hours of 10 and 12, a reception was given at the elegant home of the father of the bride in honor of the couple. Punch was served to the guests. The many beautiful and costly presents which the bride had received were then the objects of much admiration. After the reception a supper was served to the bridal party.

Among the out-of-town guests at the wedding were Misses Flettie and Mary Everett and Mr. Aylett Everett, of Keewick, and Dr. John Everett, of Rockfish.

FEILD-SLATER.

Miss Virginia Badger Slater Becomes Bride of Dr. M. A. Feild.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

PETERSBURG, VA., April 2.—A beautiful wedding took place at St. Paul's Episcopal Church at 6 o'clock this evening, when Miss Virginia Badger Slater, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hampton Slater, became the bride of Dr. Moylan Calhoun Feild, of this city. The church was decorated with palms and lilacs and potted plants, and was crowded with friends of the popular young couple.

The bride, who is one of the handsomest girls in Petersburg society, was escorted to the church by her father, and was followed by Miss Helen Zetterson, Venable as maid-of-honor, and by the attending bridesmaids: Miss Elizabeth Feild, Miss Louise Badger Slater, Miss Virginia Badger Slater, of Richmond, and Miss Grace Collins, of Cincinnati, Ohio. Mr. E. M. Feild, Jr., brother of the groom, was best man. The groomsmen were Messrs. Joseph Smith, Benjamin Harrison, Carter H. Mayers, J. Drew Martin, Robert Cuthbert, B. W. Moore, R. P. Fernald, George Watson, T. Stanley Beckwith, Jr., and Dr. H. Connolly.

The ceremony was performed by John Rigout, of Richmond, and Rev. Robert W. Barnwell, rector of St. Paul's church. The wedding march and other music were beautifully rendered by Miss Mary Simpson as organist and the full vested choir of St. Paul's church.

Dunlap-Dobie.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

PETERSBURG, VA., April 2.—Miss Salls R. Dobie, daughter of Mr. Salls R. Dobie, and of the late Mr. M. Dobie, of this city, was married at noon to-day at her mother's residence on Marshall Street to Mr. Henry B. Dunlap, of Philadelphia. The young couple left on a brief trip to Washington, Philadelphia, New York and Boston.

They will be at home to their friends after April 15th, at the Jefferson Hotel, in Richmond, where Mr. Dunlap is now located as assistant manager of the Southern business of the Balch Bros. Company, a Boston publishing house.

King-Scarborough.
